Dear,

We are writing to you about the second round of interviews for the Growing Up in Ireland study. As you may remember, Growing Up in Ireland is the first and most important study of children ever to take place in this country.

Almost two years have now passed since you and your family were interviewed as part of the pilot phase of Growing Up in Ireland. At that time we explained that we would like to make a return visit to your home for a follow-up interview to see how your child has changed and grown since our first visit. The second round of interviews is now about to take place and we would like to invite you to participate.

As you may remember Growing Up in Ireland is the first and most important of its kind ever to take place in this country. As well as improving our understanding of children and their development it will help us to understand the main issues facing families in Ireland today. It will also help in providing advice to the Government on key decisions about future policies and services which will benefit all children and their families in Ireland for many years to come.

The study is being funded by the Department of Health & Children, through the Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs, in association with the Department of Social & Family Affairs and the Central Statistics Office. The study is being carried out by a group of independent researchers from the Economic & Social Research Institute (ESRI) and Trinity College, Dublin.

As with your first interview taking part in Growing Up in Ireland is entirely voluntary. All the information collected in the course of the study is treated in the strictest confidence. Your confidentiality is protected by law. No government department will have access to the information collected.

In the coming days a member of our fieldwork team will call to your home to talk to you about the study, explain what your participation involves and to answer any questions you may have. The enclosed information leaflet provides more details on the study.

If you have any queries about the study or your involvement in it, please do not hesitate to contact our Communications Officer (Ms Jillian Heffernan) on 01-896 3378 or any of the Growing Up in Ireland team at 01-8632000.

Thanking you in anticipation,

Yours sincerely,

James Williams
(Research Professor, ESRI and Principal Investigator, Growing Up in Ireland study).

Sheila Greene
(Director, Children’s Research Centre, TCD
Co-director, Growing Up in Ireland study)
Almost two years have now passed since you and your family kindly agreed to be part of the Growing Up in Ireland Pilot Study. As you know, Growing Up in Ireland is a unique study following the progress of the same group of children over time to help improve our understanding of all aspects of children and their development.

Your child was one of 200 children and their families who took part in the Pilot phase of the study. We would like to re-interview you to find out how your child has grown and changed since our last visit.

A reminder about what Growing Up in Ireland is all about…

Growing Up in Ireland is a national, Government funded study of children and is the first and most important of its kind ever to take place in this country.

The purpose of the study is to improve our understanding of all aspects of children and their development. It will:

- tell us how children develop over time.
- help us to find out what factors affect a child’s development.
- look at what makes for a healthy and happy childhood and what might lead to a less happy one.
- help us to discover what it means to be a parent in Ireland today.

This information will help the Government to make decisions on what future policies and services will be most beneficial for children and their families in Ireland.

What has been happening since our last visit?

When we last visited your home we were preparing to carry out the main study. A total of 11,000 families of 9-month-old infants were invited to take part in this and have now been interviewed. A further 8,500 9-year-old children and their parents have also been interviewed for another part of the study.

We are now working on analysing all the information we collected from those families and the first report from the study on the 9-year-old children was published in December 2009. The first report on the 9-month-old children will follow next year.

Why should my family take part in the follow-up interview?

Your participation in the Pilot Study is crucial in helping us to prepare for the main study; we could not do this work without your help.
The information collected during the first round of interviews in the main study is now being analysed and will be used in a series of reports which the Government can use to help make improvements and bring real benefits for children and families for many years to come.

The real value of this study will come in having more information on the same children as it will help us better understand the changes which happen in children’s lives as they grow and, very importantly, why children grow and develop at different rates.

Who is running the study?

Growing Up in Ireland is a Government study. The Department of Health & Children is funding it through the Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs in association with the Department of Social & Family Affairs and the Central Statistics Office.

The Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs is overseeing and managing the study, which is being carried out by a group of independent researchers led by the Economic & Social Research Institute (ESRI) and Trinity College Dublin.

What happens if I take part in the follow-up interview?

Taking part in the follow up interview is very simple and is very similar to your first interview.

Step One: An interviewer will contact you to make arrangements to come back and interview you and your spouse/partner (where relevant).

Step Two: When the interviewer calls to your home, you and your partner (if relevant) will each be asked to fill out a separate questionnaire with the interviewer. The visit to your home will last about two hours.

Step Three: Now that your child is a little older we would like to get him/her involved in the study. With your consent we would like to administer two short assessment tests to your child. This is a short task which involves showing your child some pictures and asking him/her to name the items in those pictures. The second involves the child matching shapes. Both of these tests are used very widely in research with children. Most children like doing them but there is no problem in stopping them at any point if your child doesn’t like them. They will take about 20 minutes. Your child will need to be awake and alert for this part of the visit. The results of these tests will be kept strictly confidential and are only for the purposes of the study. Individual results will not be seen by you or your family or anyone outside the Study Team.

Step Four: If there is another parent living outside the home or someone else, such as a childminder, who looks after the child on a regular basis, we would, with your permission, like to send them a questionnaire in the post.

If you decide not to take part in the study it will in no way adversely affect any future health or social care which you or your family will receive from the State.
Confidentiality

As with the previous interview, all the information given to the Growing Up in Ireland interviewer is treated in the strictest confidence. It will be used exclusively for research purposes. The information given by your partner, childminder, and so on will not be seen by anyone – not even you will have access to it. Similarly, other participants such as your partner will not see the information you give to us.

Under no circumstances could anyone in Government or any government agency or department be able to identify information given by you. The Study is being carried out under the Statistics Act (1993). This is the same legislation as is used to carry out the Census of Population and ensures complete confidentiality of all information collected.

We will use an ID number on your questionnaire and this will help to ensure that your information is kept anonymous.

The information you provide will have your name, address and other indentifying information removed. It will then be stored on a computer so that it will be available to researchers. The information can be used only for research purposes. It would be an offence to use it for any other reason.

What kind of questions will my family be asked?

Similar to our last interview, you and your partner (if relevant) will be asked questions about:

- your child’s health and temperament
- his/her daily routines
- your own health
- your family life and experiences as a parent

All the questions are very straightforward though some are quite detailed and some will address relatively sensitive issues like your family’s income, your relationship with your partner (if relevant) and so on. The study interviewer will be able to help out if you have any concerns or questions about the actual survey questionnaire itself.

Following up in a few years time:

At this point in time it is undecided if there will be a further round of follow-up interviews. However it is possible that we may wish to return to your household again when your child is five-years-old.

In the meantime we will keep you up to date on the progress of the study results and the possibility of a further interview through our newsletter GUI News.

Who are the Interviewers?

The interviewer who will call to your home is from the Economic & Social Research Institute (ESRI). They are Officers of Statistics appointed by the Central Statistics Office and are similar to those who carry out research on behalf of the Central Statistics Office, including the Census. Each interviewer carries a photo ID card.
Each interviewer has been specially trained for the study and has vetted by An Garda Síochána.

The interviewer is not allowed to be alone with your child at any time during his/her visit to your home.

If you are unhappy with the way in which the survey has been conducted or with the interviewer or would like to confirm his/her identity, please contact the Growing Up in Ireland team at 01- 8632000.

What are my rights if I take part?

- You and your family may choose to withdraw from the study at any time, even after the interviewer has called to your home. At that stage, if requested, we would delete all information previously collected about you.
- If there are any questions on the questionnaire you do not wish to answer you do not have to do so.

What do I do next?
An interviewer will call to your home to discuss the study with you, and you can tell him or her whether or not you would like to take part.

Your participation counts.
Just as before, taking part in Growing Up in Ireland is voluntary. Your participation will play a major role in the success of the study.

It is only by carrying out studies such as these that we can understand the role of all caring adults in the life of a child and find out how we can improve the future for all children and families in Ireland.

We hope that you can support us in our work and we would like to thank you, in anticipation, for your help.

Qualitative Study

R2 As part of the Growing Up in Ireland study we will be randomly selecting a small sample of households for inclusion in what we describe as a qualitative study. This involves a further interview of your family, though in a slightly less structured way to the one which we have just completed. We will be selecting the households for this qualitative sample in about 2-3 months time. Would it be OK if we were to include your family among those to be considered for inclusion in that qualitative study? Please note that there is no guarantee that your family would be selected for the qualitative study.

OK to include family in qualitative study ...........[ ] 1
Do not include family in qualitative study ...........[ ] 2

Nested Study

R3 Finally, as part of the Growing up in Ireland project there may be related studies from time to time on various topics. There are no plans for any such studies at this time. If one of these so-called ‘nested studies’ arose we would write to relevant households and ask whether or not we could approach them for interview. Would it be OK if we were to include your family among those to be considered for inclusion in one of these nested studies, should they arise?

OK to include family in nested study .............[ ] 1
Do not include family in nested study .............[ ] 2

The Department of Health and Children is funding the study through the Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs (OMCYA), in association with the Department of Social and Family Affairs and the Central Statistics Office. The Department of Education and Science is represented on the Steering Group which oversees the Study. K20. This study wants to understand the factors that promote and hinder children’s wellbeing. We are especially interested in how your child’s social and psychological make-up is influenced by his/her genes and how genes are related to characteristics such as the child’s family, education, community etc.in influencing the child’s development.

If we had information relating to your child’s genetic make-up it would help us to understand health and illness in future years. To get information on your child’s genes we would need a sample of his/her saliva (spit) in a special container. It would be sent to a laboratory in St James Hospital in Dublin and stored for study by scientists at a later date.

The sample of saliva could be provided to investigate specific questions related to the genetic background of the child’s emotional development, physical health, allergies such as Attention Deficit Disorder, bronchitis and so on. Alternatively, the saliva sample could be used to carry out genetic research into a range of unspecified research issues, some of which have not even been thought of yet.

I am NOT asking you for a sample of your child’s saliva. I would like to know, however, if you, as a parent/guardian of <child> would, in principle, be willing to provide a sample of his/her saliva to be used in genetic research into specified or unspecified research issues.
So, looking at the responses on this card, if you were asked to provide a saliva sample from your child would you be willing to provide it:

To investigate specific research questions, such as emotional or physical health ...... 1
To investigate any unspecified research questions which may arise in the future ...... 2
It would depend (please elaborate) ................................................................. 3
I would not like to provide a sample ............................................................. 4

Again, please note that we are not asking for a saliva sample. We are just asking what your view would be, in principle, on collecting one in a survey like this.

Appendix A9: Non-resident Parent Information Sheet
What is the Growing Up in Ireland study?
Growing Up in Ireland is a national Government study of children in Ireland. This exciting study is the first and most important of its kind ever to take place in this country.

The purpose of the study is to understand all aspects of children and their development. It will:

- tell us how children develop over time.
- help us to find out what factors affect a child’s development.
- look at what makes for a healthy and happy childhood and what might lead to a less happy childhood.
- help us to discover what children think of their own lives and learn what it means to be a child in Ireland today.

What will it tell us?
The study will help us to find out all about children’s social, emotional and physical development.

The information will help the Government to make decisions on what future policies and services will be most beneficial for children and their families in Ireland.

How did you get my name and contact details?
The main phase of Growing Up in Ireland includes 11,000 3-year-old children and their families.

Your name and contact details were provided by the other parent/guardian of your child who has agreed to participate in the study.

As part of the study he/she was asked for your contact details.

Why should I take part?
We would like to ask you for your help in completing a picture of your child’s daily life.

This information will help us to give the Government advice on how to help make childhood a better experience for all children and to make improvements for children as they grow up.

Who is running the study?
Growing Up in Ireland is a Government study. The Department of Health & Children is funding it through the Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs in association with the Department of Social & Family Affairs and the Central Statistics Office.

The Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs is overseeing and managing the study, which is being carried out by a group of researchers led by the Economic & Social Research Institute (ESRI) and Trinity College Dublin.

What do I do next?
We would ask you to complete the enclosed questionnaire and return it in the envelope provided.

The questionnaire asks you about your relationship with your child and some questions on yourself. It is very straightforward and involves ticking boxes.
Will this information be kept confidential?
All the information that you provide is treated in the strictest confidence and will not be seen by the child’s other parent/guardian or anyone else. It will be used exclusively for research purposes.

Under no circumstances could anyone in Government or any government agency be able to identify information given by you.

The Study is being carried out under the Statistics Act (1993). This is the same legislation as used to carry out the Census of Population and ensures complete confidentiality of all information collected.

What are my rights if I take part?
The information you provide will have your name, address and other identifying information removed. It will then be stored on a computer so that it will be available to researchers. The information can be used only for research purposes. It would be an offence to use it for any other reason.

- If you decide to take part you may choose to withdraw from the study at any time.
- If there are any question(s) on the questionnaire you do not wish to answer you do not have to do so.

Your participation counts.
Taking part in Growing Up in Ireland is voluntary. Your participation will play a major role in the success of the study.

It is only by carrying out studies such as these that we can understand the role of all caring adults in the life of a child and find out how we can improve the future for all children and families in Ireland.

We hope that you can support us in our work and we would like to thank you, in anticipation, for your help.

What is the Growing Up in Ireland study?
Growing Up in Ireland is a national, Government study of children in Ireland. This exciting study is the first and most important of its kind ever to take place in this country.

The purpose of the study is to understand all aspects of children and their development. It will:

- tell us how children develop over time.
- help us to find out what factors affect a child’s development.
- look at what makes for a healthy and happy childhood and what might lead to a less happy childhood.
- help us to discover what children think of their own lives and learn what it means to be a child in Ireland today.

What will it tell us?
The study will help us to find out all about children’s social, emotional and physical development.

The information will help the Government to make decisions on what future policies and services will be most beneficial for children and their families in Ireland.

How did you get my name and contact details?
Growing Up in Ireland includes 11,000 3-year-old children and their families.

Your name and contact details were provided by the study child’s parent/guardian who has agreed to participate in the study.

As part of the study he/she was asked if the study child was cared for by anyone (such as you) for 8 or more hours per week and whether or not we could send a questionnaire to you about the child.

Why am I being asked to take part?
As a carer of the study child we feel that you too have a contribution to make.

This information will help us to give the Government advice on how to help make childhood a better experience for all children and to make improvements for children as they grow up.

Who is running the study?
Growing Up in Ireland is a Government study. The Department of Health & Children is funding it through the Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs in association with the Department of Social & Family Affairs and the Central Statistics Office.

The Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs is overseeing and managing the study, which is being carried out by a group of researchers led by the Economic & Social Research Institute (ESRI) and Trinity College Dublin.

What do I do next?
We would ask you to complete the enclosed questionnaire and return it in the envelope provided.

The questionnaire asks you for some details on your care of the child as well as some questions about your background. It is very straightforward and involves ticking boxes.
Will this information be kept confidential?
All the information that you provide is treated in the strictest confidence and will not be seen by the child’s parent/guardian. It will be used exclusively for research purposes and no-one, other than you, will have access to the information you provide.

Under no circumstances could anyone in Government or any government agency be able to identify information given by you.

The Study is being carried out under the Statistics Act (1993). This is the same legislation used to carry out the Census of Population and ensures complete confidentiality of all information collected.

The information you provide will have your name, address and other indentifying information removed. It will then be stored on a computer so that it will be available to researchers. The information can be used only for research purposes. It would be an offence to use it for any other reason.

What are my rights if I take part?
- If you decide to take part you may choose to withdraw from the study at any time.
- If there are any question(s) on the questionnaire you do not wish to answer you do not have to do so.

Your participation counts.
Taking part in Growing Up in Ireland is voluntary. Your participation will play a major role in the success of the study.

It is only by carrying out studies such as these that we can understand the role of all caring adults in the life of a child and find out how we can improve the future for all children and families in Ireland.

We hope that you can support us in our work and we would like to thank you, in anticipation, for your help.

Dear «non_res_title» «non_res_sname»,

We are writing to you about Growing Up in Ireland, a national study of children. The study has been commissioned by the Government and is being carried out by a research team based in the ESRI (Economic and Social Research Institute) and the Children’s Research Centre, Trinity College Dublin.

Growing Up in Ireland includes 11,000 three-year-old children and their parents from across Ireland and aims to improve our understanding of all aspects of children and their development. We would like to talk to the families and carers of these children so we can paint a detailed picture of what life is like for families with children in Ireland today.

We are contacting you because your child, «Childs_Fn» , is taking part in this important study. «Childs_Fn»’s other parent or guardian has provided us with your contact details so that we can invite you to take part as well. We think that it is important that input from both parents/guardians be included in this picture of the child’s world so that it may be as complete as possible.

To take part in the Study, all you need to do is complete the enclosed questionnaire and return it to us in the postage paid envelope provided. Participation in the Study is completely voluntary but we hope you can take the time to fill out the questionnaire and return it to us. Enclosed in this pack is an information leaflet that has some more details about Growing Up in Ireland. If you have further queries, please do not hesitate to contact us, by phone or at the above address or visit us online at www.growingup.ie.

Any information you provide to Growing Up in Ireland will be treated in the strictest confidence. No other participants, such as «Childs_Fn»’s other parent, will be able to access the details you provide.

<Respondent Address>

Dear <respondent>

Thank you for your recent participation in the Growing Up in Ireland pilot project for children approaching 3 years of age. This pilot work is an important part of our work in developing final materials for the main study later this year.

As part of the pilot, we are asking parents/guardians to self-complete a booklet on things their children can do at this stage in their development, such as walking upstairs and copying lines. The booklet contains a standard set of questions called the Ages and Stages Questionnaire. It is an essential part of the information collected on the development of children growing up in Ireland.

The majority of Ages and Stages booklets were left in the home by the interviewer at the time of the interview; however some families are being sent the booklet directly from Head Office instead. We would like to encourage all families to complete and return the booklet to us so that we may assess its usefulness for the main study.

If you have not already returned a completed Ages and Stages booklet, we would be most grateful if you could take the time to complete the booklet and return it to us in the postage-paid envelope provided; a new booklet is enclosed for your convenience. It would greatly assist us if the booklet could be returned to us on or before Friday 5th March, 2010. If you have already returned your completed booklet, many thanks and apologies for the cross-posting of this letter.

If you have any queries regarding the Ages and Stages Questionnaire booklet, please call 1800 200 434 (during office hours) and ask to speak to a member of the Growing Up in Ireland team, or email us at growingup@esri.ie.

Yours sincerely

Dear,

We are writing to you about the second round of interviews for the Growing Up in Ireland study. As you may remember, Growing Up in Ireland is the first and most important study of children ever to take place in this country.

Almost two years have now passed since you and your family were interviewed as part of the pilot phase of Growing Up in Ireland. At that time we explained that we would like to make a return visit to your home for a follow-up interview to see how your child has changed and grown since our first visit. The second round of interviews is now about to take place and we would like to invite you to participate.

As well as improving our understanding of children and their development it will help us to understand the main issues facing families in Ireland today. Growing Up in Ireland will also help in providing advice to the Government on key decisions about future policies and services which will benefit all children and their families for many years to come.

The study is being funded by the Department of Health & Children, through the Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs, in association with the Department of Social Protection and the Central Statistics Office. The study is being carried out by a group of independent researchers from the Economic & Social Research Institute (ESRI) and Trinity College, Dublin.

As with your first interview, taking part in Growing Up in Ireland is entirely voluntary. All the information collected in the course of the study is treated in the strictest confidence. Your confidentiality is protected by law.

In the coming days a member of our fieldwork team will call to your home to talk to you about the study, explain what your participation involves and to answer any questions you may have. The enclosed information leaflet provides more details on the study.

An additional feature of the Study this time is that we would like to take a sample of your child’s saliva - so that we can do some DNA analysis. The interviewer will give you a separate information leaflet about this when s/he visits your home and you can decide whether or not you would like to participate in that part of the research. You can participate in the main Growing Up in Ireland project without providing the saliva sample if that is what you would prefer.

If you have any queries about the study or your involvement in it, please do not hesitate to contact our Communications Officer (Ms Jillian Heffernan) on 01-8963378 or any of the Growing Up in Ireland team at 01-8632000.

Thanking you in anticipation,

Yours sincerely,

James Williams

Dear,

We are writing to you about the second round of interviews for the Growing Up in Ireland study. As you may remember, Growing Up in Ireland is the first and most important study of children ever to take place in this country.

Almost two years have now passed since you and your family were interviewed as part of the pilot phase of Growing Up in Ireland. At that time we explained that we would like to make a return visit to your home for a follow-up interview to see how your child has changed and grown since our first visit. The second round of interviews is now about to take place and we would like to invite you to participate.

As well as improving our understanding of children and their development it will help us to understand the main issues facing families in Ireland today. Growing Up in Ireland will also help in providing advice to the Government on key decisions about future policies and services which will benefit all children and their families for many years to come.

The study is being funded by the Department of Health & Children, through the Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs, in association with the Department of Social Protection and the Central Statistics Office. The study is being carried out by a group of independent researchers from the Economic & Social Research Institute (ESRI) and Trinity College, Dublin.

As with your first interview, taking part in Growing Up in Ireland is entirely voluntary. All the information collected in the course of the study is treated in the strictest confidence. Your confidentiality is protected by law.

In the coming days a member of our fieldwork team will call to your home to talk to you about the study, explain what your participation involves and to answer any questions you may have. The enclosed information leaflet provides more details on the study.

An additional feature of the Study this time is that we would like to take a sample of your child’s saliva - so that we can do some DNA analysis. To allow you to decide whether or not you would like to participate in that part of the research we enclose a separate information leaflet about that aspect of the Study (known as GUI-Genes). You can participate in the main Growing Up in Ireland project without providing the saliva sample if that is what you would prefer.

If you have any queries about the study or your involvement in it, please do not hesitate to contact our Communications Officer (Ms Jillian Heffernan) on 01-8963378 or any of the Growing Up in Ireland team at 01-8632000.

Thanking you in anticipation,

Yours sincerely,

Almost two years have now passed since you and your family kindly agreed to be part of the pilot phase of the Growing Up in Ireland study. As you know, Growing Up in Ireland is a unique study following the progress of the same group of children over time to help improve our understanding of all aspects of children and their development.

Your child was one of 270 children and their families who took part in the pilot phase of the study. We would like to re-interview you to find out how your child has grown and changed since our last visit.

A reminder about what Growing Up in Ireland is all about…

Growing Up in Ireland is a national, Government funded study of children and is the first and most important of its kind ever to take place in this country.

The purpose of the study is to improve our understanding of all aspects of children and their development. It will:

- tell us how children develop over time.
- help us to find out what factors affect a child’s development.
- look at what makes for a healthy and happy childhood and what might lead to a less happy one.
- help us to discover what it means to be a parent in Ireland today.

This information will help the Government to make decisions on what future policies and services will be most beneficial for children and their families in Ireland.

What has been happening since our last visit?

When we last visited your home we were preparing to carry out the main study. A total of 11,000 families of 9-month-old infants were interviewed as part of that study. A further 8,500 9-year-old children and their parents have also been interviewed for another part of the study.

We are now working on analysing all the information we collected from those families and the first report from the study on the 9-year-old children was published in December 2009. The first report on the 9-month-old children will follow later this year.

Why should my family take part in the follow-up interview?

Your participation in this phase of the study is crucial in helping us to prepare for the main study; we could not do this work without your help.

The real value of this study will come in having more information on the same children as it will help us to better understand the changes which happen in children’s lives as they grow and, very importantly, why children grow and develop at different rates.

Who is running the study?

Growing Up in Ireland is a Government study. The Department of Health & Children is funding it through the Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs in association with the Department of Social Protection and the Central Statistics Office.

The Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs is overseeing and managing the study, which is being carried out by a group of independent researchers led by the Economic & Social Research Institute (ESRI) and Trinity College Dublin.
What happens if I take part in the follow-up interview?

Taking part in the follow up interview is very simple and is very similar to your first interview.

Step One: An interviewer will contact you to make arrangements to come back and interview you and your spouse/partner (where relevant).

Step Two: When the interviewer calls to your home, you and your partner (if relevant) will each be asked to fill out a separate questionnaire with the interviewer. The visit to your home will last about two hours.

Step Three: Now that your child is a little older we would like to get him/her involved in the study. With your consent we would like to administer two short assessment tests to your child. This is a short task which involves showing your child some pictures and asking him/her to name the items in those pictures. The second involves the child matching shapes. Both of these tests are used very widely in research with children. Most children like doing them but there is no problem in stopping them at any point if your child doesn’t like them. They will take about 20 minutes. Your child will need to be awake and alert for this part of the visit. The results of these tests will be kept strictly confidential and are only for the purposes of the study.

Step Four: If there is another parent living outside the home or someone else, such as a childminder, who looks after the child on a regular basis, we would, with your permission, like to send them a questionnaire in the post.

If you decide not to take part in the study it will in no way adversely affect any future health or social care which you or your family will receive from the State.

Confidentiality

As with the previous interview, all the information given to the Growing Up in Ireland interviewer is treated in the strictest confidence. It will be used exclusively for research purposes. The information given by your partner, childminder, and so on will not be seen by anyone – not even you will have access to it. Similarly, other participants such as your partner will not see the information you give to us.

Under no circumstances could anyone in Government or any government agency or department be able to identify information given by you. The Study is being carried out under the Statistics Act (1993). This is the same legislation as is used to carry out the Census of Population and ensures complete confidentiality of all information collected.

We will use an ID number on your questionnaire and this will help to ensure that your information is kept anonymous.

The information you provide will have your name, address and other indentifying information removed. It will then be stored on a computer so that it will be available to researchers. The information can be used only for research purposes. It would be an offence to use it for any other reason.

What kind of questions will my family be asked?

Similar to our last interview, you and your partner (if relevant) will be asked questions about:

- your child’s health and temperament
- his/her daily routines
- your own health
- your family life and experiences as a parent

All the questions are very straightforward though some are quite detailed and some will address relatively sensitive issues like your family’s income, your relationship with your partner (if relevant) and so on. The study interviewer will be able to help out if you have any concerns or questions about the actual survey questionnaire itself.
Following up in a few years time:
At this point in time it is undecided if there will be a further round of follow-up interviews. However it is possible that we may wish to return to your household again when your child is five-years-old.

In the meantime we will keep you up to date on the progress of the study results and the possibility of a further interview through our newsletter, Growing Up in Ireland News.

Who are the Interviewers?
The interviewer who will call to your home is from the Economic & Social Research Institute (ESRI). The interviewer is an Officer of Statistics appointed by the Central Statistics Office and are similar to those who carry out research on behalf of the Central Statistics Office, including the Census. Each interviewer carries a photo ID card.

Each interviewer has been specially trained for the study and has been vetted by An Garda Síochána.

The interviewer is not allowed to be alone with your child at any time during his/her visit to your home.

If you are unhappy with the way in which the survey has been conducted or with the interviewer or would like to confirm his/her identity, please contact the Growing Up in Ireland team at 01- 8632000.

What are my rights if I take part?

- You and your family may choose to withdraw from the study at any time, even after the interviewer has called to your home. At that stage, if requested, we would delete all information previously collected about you.

- If there are any questions on the questionnaire you do not wish to answer you do not have to do so.

What do I do next?
An interviewer will call to your home to discuss the study with you, and you can tell him or her whether or not you would like to take part.

Your participation counts.
Just as before, taking part in Growing Up in Ireland is voluntary. Your participation will play a major role in the success of the study.

It is only by carrying out studies such as these that we can understand the role of all caring adults in the life of a child and find out how we can improve the future for all children and families in Ireland.

We hope that you can support us in our work and we would like to thank you, in anticipation, for your help.

GUI Genes
During the visit to your home, the interviewer will talk to you about whether or not you would be interested in taking part in a separate and extra piece of research called GUI-Genes. This research will look at how children’s health is affected by a combination of their genes, lifestyle and environment.

Taking part in GUI-Genes is entirely optional and up to you. You can still take part in the main Growing Up in Ireland study and decide not to take part in this extra piece of research.

If you decide to take part in GUI-Genes, a sample of your child’s saliva/spit will be taken. DNA will be extracted from it to help study if certain genes can affect children’s health.

GROUP:  HHOLD:
GUI-Genes is a new and separate piece of research being carried out as part of the Growing Up in Ireland study. This information leaflet will tell you all about the study and once you have read it you can decide whether or not you would like to take part. Taking part is entirely optional and up to you. You can take part in the main Growing Up in Ireland study without taking part in GUI-Genes.

What is the GUI-Genes study all about?
The aim of GUI-Genes is to find out how a child’s emotional and physical health is affected by the interaction of their genes (their hereditary material or DNA) with their lifestyle and environment.

At the moment the main Growing Up in Ireland study is collecting a huge amount of information from thousands of children from around Ireland to find out what leads to a happy and healthy childhood.

By collecting DNA samples from these same children medical researchers can try to work out why some children develop particular conditions and illnesses while others do not. It will also help us to better understand the genetic causes of certain illness and hopefully help us find new ways of preventing such illnesses before they develop. This could not only benefit future generations of children but will also assist in improving public health policy.

What kinds of illnesses is GUI Genes researching?
GUI-Genes plans to look at number of different illness and disorders. In the first instance it will look at developmental, emotional and behavioural disorders such as ADHD, autism and learning difficulties

Who is running the GUI-Genes study?
GUI-Genes is being run by a group of researchers led by Trinity College, Dublin (TCD) with the Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland (RCSI) and the Economic and Social Research Institute (ESRI). Professor Tom O’Dowd, Professor of General Practice in TCD is leading the study.

What happens if I decide to take part?
If you decide to take part, a sample of your child’s saliva or spit will be taken. This can be done by asking the child either to spit into a small container or by using what is called a cheek swab. A cheek swab is a sponge designed to be used like a toothbrush. Using it is simple, much like brushing your teeth and it only takes a few minutes. The interviewer will give the cheek swab to you and will show you how to rub the swab on the inside of your child’s cheek. It does not hurt at all, it may just tickle somewhat. It will then be sent to Trinity College’s laboratory in St. James’s Hospital in Dublin where it will be stored for research.
What happens if I decide NOT to take part?
Taking part in GUI-Genes is optional and entirely up to you. If you decide not to take part, we hope you will continue to take part in the main Growing Up in Ireland study as normal.

What happens to my child’s saliva sample at St James’s Hospital?

Step One: The researchers at St. James’s Hospital will extract DNA from all the saliva samples collected in the course of GUI-Genes.

Step Two: The genetic information obtained from the DNA will be stored on a computer and will be available to be used for research approved by a Research Ethics Committee which will oversee the project. The Research Ethics Committee is made up of a group of independent experts who are responsible for protecting and looking after the rights and best interests of those participating in the GUI-Genes study. No research on the DNA samples can be carried out without the permission of the Research Ethics Committee.

This research may be undertaken by the researchers directly involved in setting up the GUI-Genes project or by other researchers. Some of the research may include taking information and results from the main Growing Up in Ireland study and linking it to the information in GUI-Genes. This linkage will be done using the secure study identification number only and not your child’s name or contact details. Again, we would assure you that all research undertaken would be approved by a Research Ethics Committee which will oversee the project.

Step Three: The actual sample of spit/saliva (from which the DNA is extracted) will be securely stored for up to 10 years at the laboratory in St James’ Hospital, Dublin. No names will be stored with the sample, only identification numbers. If the researchers wish to store it for longer than 10 years, they will seek permission from the project’s Research Ethics Committee.

Step Four: The DNA information stored on the computer will be stored indefinitely. It will be identified only by the secure study identification number.

Step Five: If researchers come up with new areas of research which they would like to study using the GUI-Genes samples, they must get permission from the project’s Research Ethics Committee.

Step Six: Some investigation of the DNA information may have to take place in other laboratories, other than in those located in St. James’s hospital. If that happens the DNA sample will be returned to the hospital afterwards for secure storage. Any information generated in other laboratories will also be returned to the investigators for analysis and storage. Once again, we emphasise that your child’s name or contact details would not be stored with the DNA information or the sample of spit/saliva. These are identified only by the secure study identification number.

Confidentiality
As with all the information collected in the main Growing Up in Ireland study, the spit/saliva sample and DNA information taken from your child is strictly confidential and can be used only for research purposes.
Just like Growing Up in Ireland, GUI-Genes is being carried out under the Statistics Act (1993). This is the same legislation that is used to carry out the Census of Population and ensures complete confidentiality of all information collected.

Your child’s sample and DNA information will be stored using an identification number. All identifying information such as your child’s name and address will be removed to make sure it is completely anonymous. The information will be stored on a computer archive that can be used ONLY for research purposes. It would be an offence to use it for any other reason.

Will I get feedback on my child’s DNA?
We will NOT be able to give you any feedback of any sort on the sample collected as part of GUI-Genes. If you have any concerns about any aspect of your child’s health you should talk to your GP. If you have concerns about hereditary diseases speak to your GP about them. Your GP may consider referring you to a geneticist about them.

What are my rights if I take part?
If you decide to take part in GUI-Genes you and your family may choose to withdraw from that part of the study at any time, even after the interviewer has collected the sample. If you decide you do not wish to be part of the GUI-Genes study anymore your child’s sample and DNA information will be destroyed.

Who will be involved in researching my child’s DNA?
It will be a combination of doctors who specialise in psychological problems and laboratory geneticists.

Will new drugs be developed?
Doctors and researchers are always seeking to develop new treatments. These are expensive to develop in terms of expertise and finance. If new treatments for psychological conditions are developed they will involve researchers from the university, who will be funded by the Government, and industrial partners who specialise in such treatments.

A large number of steps are needed to bring new treatments to patients and it is carefully controlled by the Government and ethics committees.

What do I do next?
If you would like to take part in the GUI-Genes study the interviewer will ask you to sign a consent form. You will keep one copy of the consent form and the interviewer will send another copy to the study team.

Where can I find out more information?
If you would like any more information on GUI-Genes or wish to withdraw your consent to the GUI-Genes project once you have provided your child’s sample you can contact Prof. Tom O’Dowd, TCD, who is in charge of the GUI-Genes study.

Here are answers to some common questions that people often ask about DNA.

Can DNA samples be used for cloning?
No. The cheek cells which may be included in the saliva sample which the interviewer would take from your child are not living cells, they are already dead cells, and so they cannot be cloned.

Can DNA samples be used in Garda/Police investigations?
No. The DNA sample collected will always be kept completely confidential, without exception. In addition, if a criminal court ever wishes to conduct a DNA test, they can easily take their own DNA sample from saliva, so there would be no need for them to contact us. The DNA information will be used only for research purposes.

Can DNA samples ever be used to test who is my child’s father?
No. The DNA sample collected will always be kept completely confidential, without exception. In addition, if a family court ever wishes to conduct a paternity test, they can easily take their own DNA sample, so there is no need for them to contact us. The DNA sample will be used only for research purposes.

Could the sample of my child’s DNA be used by an employer or insurance company?
No. The DNA sample we collect can never be screened by, for example, any employer or insurance company. It is used only for research purposes. The GUI-Genes project is being carried out under the Statistics Acts, 1993. Under that Act it would not be lawful to use the information for any other purposes.

Can my GP contact you to find out the results of child’s DNA sample?
No. The DNA sample will always be kept strictly confidential, without exception. The DNA sample will be used only for research purposes. If your GP ever wishes to conduct a DNA test for your child, the GP can easily take a DNA sample from your child’s saliva or blood so there is no need for GP’s to contact us.

Appendix B7: Secondary Caregiver Twin Questionnaire
We are seeking to interview the parents/guardians of <child>. The whole interview with the parents/guardians and child will take about 110-120 minutes to complete. All the information you and your family provide will be treated in the strictest confidence and will not be released in any way which would allow the information you provide to be identified with you or your family. If however, we are told something which might suggest that a child or other vulnerable person is at risk we may have to act on it.

The Department of Health and Children is funding the study through the Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs (OMC), in association with the Department of Social and Family Affairs and the Central Statistics Office. The Department of Education and Science is represented on the Steering Group which oversees the Study. A group of researchers led by the Economic and Social Research Institute (ESRI) and The Children's Research Centre at Trinity College Dublin is carrying out the study.

Appendix B9: Non-resident Parent Information Sheet
What is the Growing Up in Ireland study?
Growing Up in Ireland is a national Government study of children in Ireland. This exciting study is the first and most important of its kind ever to take place in this country.

The purpose of the study is to understand all aspects of children and their development. It will:

- tell us how children develop over time.
- help us to find out what factors affect a child’s development.
- look at what makes for a healthy and happy childhood and what might lead to a less happy childhood.
- help us to discover what children think of their own lives and learn what it means to be a child in Ireland today.

What will it tell us?
The study will help us to find out all about children’s social, emotional and physical development.

The information will help the Government to make decisions on what future policies and services will be most beneficial for children and their families in Ireland.

How did you get my name and contact details?
The main phase of Growing Up in Ireland includes 11,000 3-year-old children and their families.

Your name and contact details were provided by the other parent/guardian of your child who has agreed to participate in the study.

As part of the study he/she was asked for your contact details.

Why should I take part?
We would like to ask you for your help in completing a picture of your child’s daily life.

This information will help us to give the Government advice on how to help make childhood a better experience for all children and to make improvements for children as they grow up.

Who is running the study?
Growing Up in Ireland is a Government study. The Department of Health & Children is funding it through the Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs in association with the Department of Social & Family Affairs and the Central Statistics Office.

The Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs is overseeing and managing the study, which is being carried out by a group of researchers led by the Economic & Social Research Institute (ESRI) and Trinity College Dublin.

What do I do next?
We would ask you to complete the enclosed questionnaire and return it in the envelope provided.

The questionnaire asks you about your relationship with your child and some questions on yourself. It is very straightforward and involves ticking boxes.
Will this information be kept confidential?
All the information that you provide is treated in the strictest confidence and will not be seen by the child’s other parent/guardian or anyone else. It will be used exclusively for research purposes.

Under no circumstances could anyone in Government or any government agency be able to identify information given by you.

The Study is being carried out under the Statistics Act (1993). This is the same legislation as used to carry out the Census of Population and ensures complete confidentiality of all information collected.

What are my rights if I take part?
The information you provide will have your name, address and other indentifying information removed. It will then be stored on a computer so that it will be available to researchers. The information can be used only for research purposes. It would be an offence to use it for any other reason.

- If you decide to take part you may choose to withdraw from the study at any time.
- If there are any question(s) on the questionnaire you do not wish to answer you do not have to do so.

Your participation counts.
Taking part in Growing Up in Ireland is voluntary. Your participation will play a major role in the success of the study.

It is only by carrying out studies such as these that we can understand the role of all caring adults in the life of a child and find out how we can improve the future for all children and families in Ireland.

We hope that you can support us in our work and we would like to thank you, in anticipation, for your help.

What is the Growing Up in Ireland study?
Growing Up in Ireland is a national, Government study of children in Ireland. This exciting study is the first and most important of its kind ever to take place in this country.

The purpose of the study is to understand all aspects of children and their development. It will:

- tell us how children develop over time.
- help us to find out what factors affect a child’s development.
- look at what makes for a healthy and happy childhood and what might lead to a less happy childhood.
- help us to discover what children think of their own lives and learn what it means to be a child in Ireland today.

What will it tell us?
The study will help us to find out all about children’s social, emotional and physical development.

The information will help the Government to make decisions on what future policies and services will be most beneficial for children and their families in Ireland.

How did you get my name and contact details?
Growing Up in Ireland includes 11,000 3-year-old children and their families.

Your name and contact details were provided by the study child’s parent/guardian who has agreed to participate in the study.

As part of the study he/she was asked if the study child was cared for by anyone (such as you) for 8 or more hours per week and whether or not we could send a questionnaire to you about the child.

Why am I being asked to take part?
As a carer of the study child we feel that you too have a contribution to make.

This information will help us to give the Government advice on how to help make childhood a better experience for all children and to make improvements for children as they grow up.

Who is running the study?
Growing Up in Ireland is a Government study. The Department of Health & Children is funding it through the Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs in association with the Department of Social & Family Affairs and the Central Statistics Office.

The Office of the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs is overseeing and managing the study, which is being carried out by a group of researchers led by the Economic & Social Research Institute (ESRI) and Trinity College Dublin.

What do I do next?
We would ask you to complete the enclosed questionnaire and return it in the envelope provided.

The questionnaire asks you for some details on your care of the child as well as some questions about your background. It is very straightforward and involves ticking boxes.
Will this information be kept confidential?
All the information that you provide is treated in the strictest confidence and will not be seen by the child’s parent/guardian. It will be used exclusively for research purposes and no-one, other than you, will have access to the information you provide.

Under no circumstances could anyone in Government or any government agency be able to identify information given by you.

The Study is being carried out under the Statistics Act (1993). This is the same legislation used to carry out the Census of Population and ensures complete confidentiality of all information collected.

The information you provide will have your name, address and other identifying information removed. It will then be stored on a computer so that it will be available to researchers. The information can be used only for research purposes. It would be an offence to use it for any other reason.

What are my rights if I take part?
- If you decide to take part you may choose to withdraw from the study at any time.
- If there are any question(s) on the questionnaire you do not wish to answer you do not have to do so.

Your participation counts.
Taking part in Growing Up in Ireland is voluntary. Your participation will play a major role in the success of the study.

It is only by carrying out studies such as these that we can understand the role of all caring adults in the life of a child and find out how we can improve the future for all children and families in Ireland.

We hope that you can support us in our work and we would like to thank you, in anticipation, for your help.
